LIBERAL ARTS

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

CSUS offers an interdisciplinary program of graduate study leading to the Master of Arts degree in Liberal Arts. The graduate program is designed to give students an opportunity to study broad areas of human experience at an advanced level without requiring them to specialize in a particular discipline. The major does not aim to prepare students for a career or a profession, though many graduates may find it enhances their understanding and effectiveness in their chosen fields of work. It requires a commitment to serious reading, thinking, and writing, and the willingness to journey at times in uncharted academic regions where disciplines cross, whether to meet amicably or join battle. Faculty from various disciplines who teach the core courses are carefully chosen for their outstanding teaching and scholarship, and their interest in interdisciplinary approaches to learning.

This is a new program at CSUS, though there are nearly a hundred similar graduate majors throughout the country and over 18,000 graduates. With this program, CSU joins a nationwide effort to redress the imbalance that exists between the decreasing study of the liberal arts, particularly in undergraduate general education requirements, and increasing pursuit of specialized vocational training. It provides a second chance for graduates who feel that their bachelor’s degree may have left them with an incomplete education in the liberal arts.

GRADUATE PROGRAM

Admission Requirements

Admission as a classified graduate student in Liberal Arts requires:

- an undergraduate degree from an accredited four-year college or university (or equivalent preparation if the student has done undergraduate work outside the U.S.) with a minimum 2.5 GPA;
- three letters of reference, to be sent to Program Coordinator by application deadline;
- a grade “B-” or better in LIBA 201, LIBA 202, LIBA 203, or LIBA 204;
- competence in the English language, as demonstrated by academic achievement and the Writing Proficiency Exam; and
- a statement of purpose of at least 150 words (typed) as part of application.

Students with deficiencies in Admission Requirements that can be removed by specified additional preparation may be admitted with conditionally classified graduate status. Any deficiencies will be noted on a response to the admission application.

Admission Procedures

Persons interested in applying should first contact the Graduate Center for information and application materials. Applications are accepted as long as room for new students exists, but students applying for Fall are urged to complete their application by April 1 and for Spring by October 1 in order to be included before Computer Access Student Phone Entry Registration (CASPER) begins. All students must complete Forms A and B of the CSU application booklet and return forms to the Graduate Center. International visa students must submit the appropriate international student application form which is available at the Office of International Programs and at the International Graduate Center. All other application materials are filed with the Graduate Center and will be forwarded to the Liberal Arts Program coordinator for appropriate action.
Advancement to Candidacy

Students must file an application for Advancement to Candidacy, indicating a proposed program of graduate study. This should be initiated by the student as soon as the student has:

- removed any deficiencies in Admission Requirements;
- completed at least 15 units of 200-level courses in the graduate program with a “B-” or better in each of the required courses;
- maintained a minimum 3.0 GPA overall in the program’s electives and culminating requirements;
- filed an acceptable Advancement to Candidacy form with the Program Office, to include a description of the student’s electives and how the elective courses fit it and lead to the culminating requirement; and
- fulfilled all university-wide graduate requirements for advancement, including the Writing Proficiency Examination.
